The 'Enterprise Troopers' National Primary School Competition

Take part in this lively competition to not only develop children's enterprise skills, but also for a fun and engaging way to support numeracy and literacy skills development.

Amy, Callum, Rhian and Owain are the 'Enterprise Troopers', a team of superhero characters based on the skills and behaviours needed to be entrepreneurial. Through the competition, they ask pupils to start and grow their own business.

Suitable for all primary school children, the competition is split into two categories – Foundation phase and Key Stage 2. It's worthwhile for teachers and the school too – strengthening links with local enterprises by involving them in the project and providing an opportunity to showcase what the school has done and what the pupils have learnt.

Give your young people an entrepreneurial jump-start today.

As well as learning how businesses work, pupils gain confidence and enthusiasm for enterprise from the satisfaction and thrill of being their own boss. They also learn:

- ✓ that having a can-do attitude is important to make ideas happen
- ✓ how to think creatively and work as part of a team
- ✓ new and different approaches to solving problems
- ✓ how to influence and negotiate, and
- ✓ the importance of reflection, building relationships, and being part of a team.

"On the whole, there was a fantastic energy and enthusiasm and a few little stars emerging. It was a brilliant day."

- Teacher, Llanyrafon Primary School

96% of under 16s said it helped them understand what it's like to run a business.

Yn ogystal â dysgu sut mae busnesau'n gweithio, mae disgyblion yn ennill hyder a brwdfrydedd am fenter o'r boddhad a'r wefr o fod yn fos ar eu hunain. Maent hefyd yn dysgu:

- ✓ bod cael agwedd gallu-gwneud yn bwysig er mwyn gwneud i syniadau ddigwydd
- ✓ sut i feddwl yn greadigol a gweithio fel rhan o dîm
- ✓ dulliau newydd a gwahanol o ddatrys problemau
- ✓ sut i ddylanwadu ar bobl a thrafod, a
- ✓ phwysigrwydd myfyrio, datblygu perthnasau, a bod yn rhan o dîm.

"Ar y cyfan, roedd yna egni a brwdfrydedd gwych ac ychydig o sêr bach yn dod i'r amlwg. Roedd yn ddiwrnod gwych."

- Athro, Ysgol Gynradd Llanyrafon

Dywedodd 96% o bobl ifanc dan 16 oed fod hyn wedi'u helpu i ddeall sut beth yw rhedeg busnes.
