

Building Business Resilience in the Food & Drink Sector – can the right legal & tax structure make you more resilient?

When: 9.30am, 16th September 2020

Register here

Food or drink businesses that start-up as a sole trader and not VAT registered not only miss out on recovering input costs but are also potentially more vulnerable. Indeed, some businesses have found, to their cost, that the eligibility for the government support through Covid-19 excluded them because they were not registered for VAT or a limited company. Getting the right advice about structure, tax and VAT is a prerequisite for success.

If you are like many food or drink businesses and are sometimes uncertain how the VAT rules on food and drink apply or worry about pricing in EPOS systems, on-line and having the management information that can reconcile these elements, then this webinar is for you.

Our panel of finance and tax experts will discuss and demystify the world of tax, VAT and some of the situations that can be managed with the right advice.

Our panel of experts are:

- Andrea Brindley, Director, Centurion VAT
- Phil Mills, Partner Food & Drink, Old Mills Financial Services
- Huw Thomas, Food & Drink Wales Industry Board, Managing Director, Puffin Produce
