Project concept:	To support children and young people to think about love in an inclusive way. To empower them to use their crafts to decorate the hall for the Valentines Disco in the afternoon We will be focusing on inclusive opportunities to attend an event to celebrate Valentines.
How funded?	Play Development post is funded through Arwain
	Rebecca Evans, other staff and the event is being funded through the Play sufficiency grant from Powys CC. The PDO submitted a project proposal and was awarded funding for this project.
Target age(s):	Age 6-13
Expected outcomes:	Children and young people create craft items, have discussions around love and relationships and decorate the hall how they see fit in preparation for the Valentines Disco.
	Children and young people attending the venue for the first time and getting a great impression.
	Free play and opportunities to dance and have fun for all those attending.
	Promoting the venue to families who may choose to hire it in the future.

Comments:

The valentines disco and craft workshop was initially developed as a result of requests for an event from parents and children at our previous art and craft workshops. The idea was discussed with the staff team and Rebecca was happy to volunteer her time to organise the event. Ideas for the art and craft session were discussed and included:

- Staffing
- Date/Times
- Resources needed
- Decoration of the hall used some of the above to decorate hall
- Free entry to enable everyone to attend

Art and craft - bunting, giant heart mobiles, cards, stained glass hearts

We decided to use our own hall as the venue for the event to promote the Hub but also keep cost low. One of our staff members knew someone who could provide lights and music system at a low cost.

Other actions considered

Times/Dates

Maximum numbers of children/Parent/carers

Target age group

No of staff/volunteers needed

Possible games/activities provided

Resources required

Steve to produce poster

Jessie to advertise event - social media/posters

Risk Assessment - PDO

Purchase materials - Rebecca

- Photo booth creating a space to dress up mirror, frame, props, camera
- Games such as sleeping lions, musical statues etc
- Food and drink bottles of water, biscuits
- Decoration of the hall used some of the above to decorate hall
- Free entry to allow everyone to attend

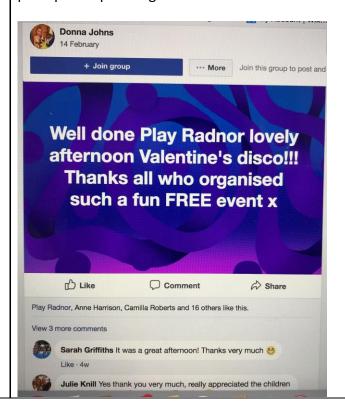

Next Steps:	Proved so popular this should be considered as a future event, for a fee, to generate income and to provide a suitable venue and popular activity for this age group

Lessons learned:	very well, feedback session was over sta that evening. Very p Facebook proved ve disco so had prepar	21 children attended the craft session and 10 parents. Children aged between 2 -11. Session went very well, feedback from parents was very positive, especially that it was a free event. Once the session was over staff and some parents/children stayed on to help decorate the hall for the disco that evening. Very popular session. PDO to complete monitoring and end of year report to CYPP. Facebook proved very popular and we anticipated that we would have a large attendance for the disco so had prepared a 'We are full' poster just in case. We needed it and attendance was significant, the event proved very popular and received positive coverage on a local Facebook page.

In total 80 children and 24 parents attended the event, feedback from parents was very positive many commenting that it was great to see something in the community for children and FREE. PDO to complete monitoring for this project and end of year report. In the future we will use this principle for planning further events such as Halloween or Easter etc.

This document will be used as evidence for our ARWAIN grant and may also be used to inform future grant funding applications.
